

PATRON CONDUCT

Patrons are to conduct themselves in a manner that does not interfere with other patrons and is in keeping with the library's programs and services. Any activity not connected with these library programs or services may be deemed inappropriate and such patron is subject to removal from the building and premises and /or restriction of library privileges.

The library is a smoke-free and drug-free building.

Parents or guardians are responsible for their children's behavior. Library staff cannot and shall not assume liability for children's safety and behavior.

Children under the age of five, or with special needs, may not be left unattended in the library. Special needs may be related to, but are not limited to, physical or mental abilities, disruptive behavior, emotional problems, lack of adequate attention span, and incomplete social skills.
